Print Report

Cookies Set

A total of 61 cookies were available to the websites you visited during your recording (take a look at them all!). The most naughty cookie we recognised has a possible naughtiness score of 4 out of 5 (you what?) but you may have more sinful ones.

WARNING: This report should not be viewed as gospel! Cookie logging ain't perfect and our interpretations of cookies are very fallible, but congratulations on taking the first step to creating a plan to try to comply with the EU Cookie Directive. May the force be with you.

Cookie setting tools/services (probably) being used on

What	1st?	Cookies Set	Possible Naughtiness	Thoughts
Google Analytics	No	20	3	Google Analytics uses this cookie name. Not exactly phone tapping
AddThis	No	5	3	Most likely you've got some sharing buttons on your site. They are watching your users but they do have a facility for you to opt-out of their cookies that you might want to do (see http://www.addthis.com/forum/viewtopic.php?f=2&amp;t=25437 ). They may also be setting media6degrees.com cookies by your site as well.
Drupal?	No	1	1	We know Drupal uses this and there is a discussion about it's implications for the cookie directive hee: http://drupal.org/node/1153064
Omniure	No	1	3	When Google Analytics alone is not enough. Take care to find out if the data collected is anonymised or not.
Quantcast	No	2	4	Even if you visit their website, you'll be none of the wiser but it's tracking of sorts that's likely personally identifiable. Sometimes installed by your computer rather than set by your website so try running spyware removal. Used by Wordpress.com unfortunately and also set by many third party services such as sharing tools (e.g. ShareThis)

Session	Yes	4	1	Probably a session cookie. Sugar and spice mostly but in the hands of SPECTRE, who knows - discuss with your developer
ShareThis	No	2	3	Most likely you've got some sharing buttons on your site. They are watching your users

List of 1st party cookies set on the domain

Cookie Name	Expires	Information

Over time we hope to add more information about common cookies and the directive. You can keep up to date here. Better still if you want to contribute knowledge we'd love to hear from you.

What Now?

OK, serious hat on.

We'd recommend you look at the complete log of cookies and seek to determine your own view of cookie naughtiness.

In our opinion if you have cookies with a naughtiness score of 2 or more, then the law requires you to get consent from your site visitors to use cookies. The first step in that process is to tell them what you use cookies for. That's what you need a cookie information page for. And good news is we can help you with that (yes, for free):

Next Step: Generate a Cookie Information Page »
